Investment Objective

Green-Tech-Elements are indispensable for us to make the world green. May it be solar and wind energy, may it be electrical vehicles - they all need elements with special properties. Catalytical converters have made an enormous difference the last 30 years and they would not have been possible without palladium and platinum.

These precious metals along with for an example silver, lithium, cobalt, hydrogen and the companies working to find better and new solutions for our world through batteries, fuel cells or for an example energy/resource management are the focus for the portfolio. A unique possibility to invest for returns in the mega trend: a green world.
